SOCIAL CHATTER AND HOME TALK

PRINCESS OF WALES GOES TO BOXING MATCHES.

London, April 24—Would America be shocked if Mrs. Tuff witnessed half a dozen sporting matches? The Irish society has not been shocked to cause the Princess of Wales, with the Prince and her two sons, Prince David and Prince Edward, spent an hour the other night watching half a dozen hotly contested bouts between the best scrappers in the Second Life Guards and the Irish Guard.

The fights occurred in the riding school of the Life Guards at Windsor Castle. The Prince and Princess of Wales and the Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck dined with the officers at the mess of the Second Life Guards, and after the royal party watched the regimental sports including the squaring bouts. The young Princess of Wales joined their parents after dinner.

The boxing was the cream of the night's entertainment. The Prince of Wales sat beside the Princess and the little Princess watched the fighting with dancing eyes and applauded frequently.

The chief bouts, curiously enough, were between four brothers named Hickey, privates in the Irish Guard now stationed at Windsor Castle. The four Hickeys fought ferociously and punched one another with zest, much to the amusement of the royal spectators. The two contesting pairs were twins, and the Prince of Wales laughed when he learned there were two other fighting Hickey brothers, not twins, who will join the Irish Guard next week.

The keen attention with which the Prince watched the boxing brought back memories of his own prowess with the gloves in the days when as a naval cadet he was a noted lightweight boxer. The Prince sat forward in his seat watching appreciatively every blow and feat and applauded the hard fought rounds enthusiastically.

The Princess of Wales took a keen interest in the fight, the Prince explaining to her the science of the game.

Among the aristocratic women with the royal party who witnessed the scraps were Lady Edith Trotter, Lady Edward Spencer Churchill, Lady Emily Van Dewater, Lady Mary Arkwright, Lady Wilton, Lady Paravieini and Lady Evelyn Rothschild.

Work For Conservation.

The third number of the Hawaiian Forester and Agriculturist is out, containing an account of the conservation work of the women of Hawaii, and of the joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Legislature of Hawaii, to listen to addresses on the subject of conservation by the Governor of the Territory, members of the Territorial Conservation Commission, the Federal Judge and the Director of the Hawaii Experiment Station. This meeting indicates the growing sense of the importance of the conservation work to these islands. Letters have been received by the vice president for Hawaii of the Woman's National Rivers and Harbor Congress from the Sierra club of California, of which Mr. John Muir is president, asking cooperation in their effort to preserve the Yosemite National Park from ruthless spoliation.

Mrs. McMillan Coming.

Among the prominent and wealthy women travellers who is expected shortly to arrive in Honolulu from the Orient, is Mrs. William McMillan of St. Louis, widow of the late Senator McMillan and one of the richest women of St. Louis. She is a great traveller and when in the States always uses her private car. Mrs. McMillan, with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George McMillan, have been spending the winter in India. Mr. McMillan having returned to his famous African ranch, where he has had the distinction of entertaining ex-President Roosevelt and party. At Colombo, Ceylon, the party broke up, Mrs. McMillan and her friend, Mrs. Clarke, sailing for Hongkong, whence they later left for Japan, where they have been spending a few weeks. Letters received from Mrs. McMillan state that she will shortly return home and it is probable that she will arrive this month.

Mrs. Nixon Here.

Mrs. Nixon of Nevada, who has been spending several months in Southern California, was among this week's arrivals from the coast, and is a guest at the Moana Hotel. Mrs. Nixon is the wife of Senator Nixon, owner of what is reported to be the richest gold mine in Nevada.

The Cail says: Miss Helen Irwin entertained at a dinner party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin in Washington street. The complimented guests were Miss Margaret Newhall and her fiancé, Athole McLean, and a score of friends were bidden to meet the couple. The table decorations were pink roses arranged in an elaborate manner, from which smaller rose bouquets fell. Among the guests were: Miss Margaret Newhall, Miss Marian Newhall, Miss Elizabeth Newhall, Miss Genevieve King, Miss Helen Chesbrough, Miss Jennie Crocker, Miss Julia Lang, home, Miss Mary Joseph, Athole McLean, Prescott Scott, Eugene Hopkins, Raymond Armaby, Arthur Chesbrough, Stewart Lowery, Frank Preston, Walter Dillingham, C. Templeton, Crocker.

A military hop at the Moana hotel on Thursday evening entertained everybody immensely, for the lauls and walls were filled with strangers, and it was interesting to watch and comment. The lounge as well as the dining-room and ball room were brave with many colored floral paper, and huge palm leaves ornamented the walls and doors. The famous Seventh Infantry band gave a concert under the hau tree during dinner, and for some time afterwards, while the Royal Hawaiian Quintet club played for the dancers who thronged the ballroom. The many pretty women seen were much commented upon and there were several small dinners preceding the hop. Among the familiar faces on the laul watching the passing show with interest were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown and their dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Leeds; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder, Princess Kawananakoa, who returned in the Mongolia after a six months trip; Mrs. Ernest Waterhouse, Mrs. Potter, Miss Jones, Miss Lydia Gibbons, Mr. Gustav Schaefer, Mr. Gibbons, Mr. Noel Deerr, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Mrs. Birney, Miss Birney, Lieut. On Thursday evening at the Moana hotel Lieut. Beniel gave a jolly stag dinner for thirty. The decorations were in pink.

Among the many dinners at the Moana hotel was that of Lieut. Gillespie at which eight were hospitably entertained.

There was a gay surfing party at the Moana on Friday, and an elaborate tea was served under the hau tree about five, at which many young people with the appetites or hunger gave strict attention.

Mrs. Potter of Los Angeles gave a pretty dinner at the Alexander Young hotel on Tuesday at which were present Mr. and Mrs. R. Leeds, Miss Nina Jones, Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., American Beauty were adorned the table.

Miss Lydia Gibbons and her father, Mr. Gibbons, who are guests at the Moana hotel gave a beautiful dinner in honor of Italian Consul and Mrs.

Schaefer and their family on Wednesday night. A basket of Manon Cocchet roses was the centerpiece, the handle of which was composed of tiny electric light bulbs concealed amidst the roses. A bouquet of roses was at each plate, and rose painted place cards seated each guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olson, who are occupying the Westervelt bungalow in College Hills, entertained informally at dinner Wednesday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of their sister, Miss Agnes Wickström, who is their home guest for the coming year. Those dining were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Warren and Wil Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ray of Alameda, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Meyer of Oakland, made up a jolly party of visitors that arrived by the Mongolia. Mrs. Ray is a sister of Mrs. Pisco of the Trinity Mission. Mr. Meyer was the architect of the Young hotel building.

Mrs. Eric Knudsen, and a party of friends are sailing for Kauni in the Kinau on Tuesday the 18th. They will go directly to the Knudsen mountain house for a week's visit. Mrs. d'Orange sailed in the Hall on Thursday in order to see the Robinsons before they depart for a visit to the Coast.

Music was a feature of the dinner on Friday evening at the Alexander Young hotel, and many took advantage of this to entertain. Captain Babcock of the transport Sheridan, gave a charming dinner, and among his guests were Captain and Mrs. Falls, and many from the transport. Red carnations and candles shaded in red made a pretty decoration.

After all, the two main things about beer are the flavor and the "after-effects"—how it tastes and how it agrees.

No beer ever brewed is the equal in either of these respects of PRIMO BEER. Brewed to suit the climate, its soft, delicious quality is always a matter of comment.
